The Jeff Hayden Memorial Envirotron Golf Classic

The Jeff Hayden Memorial Envirotron Golf Classic, one of the main turfgrass fundraisers held in the State of Florida, offers the opportunity to play for a greener future. Presented by the Seven Rivers Golf Course Superintendents Association, the event is set for April 18, 2016, at the prestigious World Woods Golf Club in Brooksville, Florida.

Since its inception in 1993, the tournament has raised close to $1 million. With the continued support of those within the turfgrass industry, the tournament has thrived for over 20 years, with still more to come!

The proceeds from the tournament have continued to support its namesake, the Envirotron Research Laboratory, located on the main campus of the University of Florida in Gainesville. The only one of its kind in the U.S., the 3100 square feet, state of the art research laboratory opened in November 1993. The property includes dry and wet laboratory areas, numerous greenhouses, a rain shelter, and a 10,000 square foot putting green. The facility was dedicated to the memory of Jeff Hayden in 2005.

Over the years, tournament proceeds have also reached beyond the Envirotron by funding numerous research projects being conducted by UF faculty. In recent years, funds have helped to create and maintain the UF Turfgrass Research Unit in Citra. The 40-acre G.C. Horn Memorial Field Laboratory is located at the Plant Science Research and Education Unit and will serve as a major site for present and future turfgrass research conducted by the University of Florida.

Both research facilities have guided tours available. Contact Dr. Jason Kruse at 352-846-0400 for a tour of the Envirotron Research Laboratory and Mark Kann at 352-591-2678 for a tour of the G.C. Horn Memorial Field Laboratory in Citra. Come out and see the future of turfgrass research!
