LEARNING HOW TO KEEP SCORE

Keeping Score

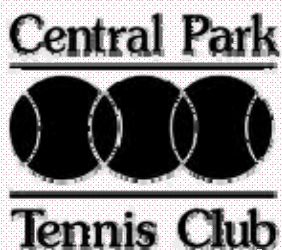

- Zero points is called Love.
- 1 point is called 15.
- 2 points is called 30.
- 3 points is called 40.
- 4 points is called "game".
- You must win a game by 2 points.
- If both teams get to 3 points a piece, it is called 40 – 40 or deuce.
- If at deuce, the server wins the next point, it is called Ad-In as the ADvantage is IN the server's favor. If the server wins the next point, the server has won the game. If the server loses the next point, the score reverts to deuce.
- If at deuce, the server loses the next point, it is called Ad-Out as the ADvantages is OUT of the server's favor. If the server loses the next point, the server loses that game.

Playing a game

- Four points to win a game.
- Six games to win a set.
- Minimum two sets to win a match.

HULA HOOP DRILL

Line up ten feet away from your parent who is holding a hula hoop. Have your parent feed the ball to you while you try to hit the ball and send it through the hoop. Try to see how many you can hit successfully through the hoop in 60 seconds. Once you are ready to step it up a notch, try hitting the ball through the hoop with your backhand. Once you have mastered that, switch from hitting your forehand to your backhand.
