

Hard to believe August has officially arrived, and we are now moving briskly through the second half of 2023. Soon both children and educators will be headed back to school for another fall semester, major league baseball teams still in contention will be pulling out all the stops to make a run to the World Series, and the sights and sounds of spectacular tackles and catches on football fields across the country will excite and entertain us for another season.

Meanwhile, here at Berkeley Hills it feels like we're hitting our 2023 stride. I can't wait to see what the rest of the year brings for us around the clubhouse, on the golf course, and down at the tennis and pickleball courts. And we've got some big, fun and friendly competitions to look forward to this month, with the Men's Club Championship taking place August 11th - 13th and the Summer Pickleball League Playoffs each ramping up to crown some new 2023 Berkeley Hills Champions!

Additionally this month, we've added two nine-hole weekday golf activities to the calendar. On August 22nd, in conjunction with Taco Tuesday we'll be having a "Three Clubs and a Putter" Challenge, where 2-person teams will play a shamble format and see how low they can go with some arrows removed from their respective quivers. Then on Thursday, August 31st, we'll close out the month with a Couples Golf "Twilighters" Scramble, where the Golf Shop will pair up couples into 4-person teams for some friendly evening camaraderie and competition. Regardless of whether you are a beginner or a seasoned player, carve out some time in your schedule to join us for these upcoming fun-filled events!

Now, as I reach the mid-point of this month's column, you may be curious about the photo inserted behind the text. Well, in consideration of some of the impactful changes that have been happening at Berkeley Hills this year, I wanted to highlight the role both the rearview mirror and the windshield seen in the background photo will play in helping us determine our future direction as a club.

Too often we humans tend to become mired in reliving the events of times gone by, and permit old experiences to prohibit our embracing of new opportunities. In contrast, we should take a page from the advice of 20th century theologian & author Warren Wiersbe, who stated that, "People do not move ahead by looking in the rearview mirror. The past is a rudder to guide us, not an anchor to drag us."

For some additional perspective, motivational speakers and life coaches highlight that the size of the car windshield is substantially larger than the rearview mirror, emphasizing the direction in which our eyes and attention should be primarily focused as we navigate the highways and byways of life. And as we look through that metaphorical glass at future possibilities, we must also be willing to accept that there will surely be some dirt and mud and likely a few splattered bugs that we run into along the way to our ultimate destination. Or, as billionaire Warren Buffett once said, "In the business world, the rearview mirror is always cleaner than the windshield!"

As we navigate through the days ahead, I hope each of you share the sense of optimism both myself and the Board of Governors feel regarding the next chapter to be written in Berkeley's history. We are excited to see the energy and fresh perspective Director of Golf Keith Roberts will bring to his role as he guides future golf operations. And we also embrace tackling the challenges involved in mapping out the best path forward for the club operationally and strategically, in order to bring about the improvements on the golf course, around the clubhouse and at the racquet complex that will enhance your member experience. As always, thank you for your support of Berkeley Hills. Let's enjoy this journey together!

What a wonderful month July was for growing grass. The winter-damaged areas of turf on the edges of some greens that needed to heal have finally begun to spread out in response to the warm temperatures mixed with consistent rain. Some areas have completely grown back, and some are on the way. If you look closely, you can see the grass runners spreading a little more every day

While there may still be more patching to do, we are letting the existing turf grow in as much as possible. At the end of the summer, we will then identify any remaining bare areas not likely to grow in before winter dormancy and patch them then if necessary.

Now, you may have noticed a few areas near the greens edges where we expanded them outside the existing cavity during resurfacing last year that have thinned somewhat during the wet weeks of the summer. We are monitoring those areas to determine if the water isn't draining away quickly enough, and we may have to add what's called a "smiley" drain to help those spots stay drier in the future during periods of high rainfall.

In more great July developments, I'm happy to report that the speed of the greens is here and they are running great! I apologize that I was two weeks off my initial estimate on when they'd round into the shape I've been looking for. 😊

If you noticed, we began a light weekly verticut in July to help prevent grain from building in the greens. When we verticut greens we put special reels on the mowers that slice through the grass vertically, thinning out the leaf blade and helping to eliminate grain. Grain refers to the direction the grass wants to grow towards, which can influence the roll of your ball. Really grainy greens tend to produce a slower, bouncier roll, and a lot of cross-grain is what makes the ball break a different direction against the slope of the green. Now that we have the greens where we want them and we're into August, each week we will slowly raise the height of the greens to get to the winter height by the end of September while maintaining smoothness and speed. When done correctly, you should not see much, if any drop off in the quality of the roll.

As for the rest of the course, I could not be happier with where we're at after a challenging spring and early summer. But that doesn't mean the work will stop. In July we rented a trencher and a concrete saw to lay new drainage off the front right side of #12 green (the old drainage had been damaged by tree root encroachment). That area will be draining much better in the future, and your up-and-downs should get a little easier. We're also keeping an eye on some of the bunker edges that we sodded with Zoysia where the sod has struggled to take hold in the straight-sand base soil. We will keep an eye on those spots, and if they need to be re-patched, we will do it during the fall while the roots are still growing and the slightly cooler conditions are a little better for the Zoysia to take

It's great seeing everyone out enjoying the course. As always, if you have any questions, please ask.

GOLF NEWS

Members of Berkeley Hills Country Club, thank you for allowing me to be your next Director of Golf. While this position is a dream come true for me, the road here has been a long and adventurous one.

In the early 90's, I played a Georgia Open qualifier at Berkeley Hills. Being a farm boy from central Georgia growing up on municipal courses, I fell immediately in love with Berkeley and the country club atmosphere.

A few years later, while attending West Georgia College in Carrollton I met my wife of now 26 years. Since she lived in Gwinnett County, I decided to find a job near her so we could be married. One weekend in 1997 on the trip home to Carrollton I was passing Beaver Ruin and the fond memories of Berkeley were once again triggered in my mind. I called the club to inquire about a job and Scott Hinkley, the Head Pro at the time, answered the phone. After a short conversation, he said he needed an assistant golf pro and hired me. Once I started at the club and met the members, my love affair with Berkeley began. I ended up working at Berkeley Hills from 1997-2005. That was a busy and exciting time, as I got married, earned my PGA Class A Membership, and became a father to our first two children.

In 2005, realizing the time had come to expand my career horizons, I left Berkeley Hills and moved to Northwood Country Club, which provided a great opportunity to experience how a contemporary area club ran their operations. During that time my wife and I also welcomed our third child into the world.

From Northwood I would move on to experience life on the "other side of the counter" outside of the golf business for a few years, but my love for the industry and the people eventually brought me back, first managing the golf retail operations for Dick's Sporting Goods, then later serving six years as the Head Golf Professional for Bear's Best Atlanta.

In February of 2020 after leaving Bear's, I was looking to embrace a new challenge. Little did I know it would come in the form of a reunion at Berkeley Hills. But then I heard that Shawn had an opening on his staff, and after giving it some thought I decided to reach out and see if I could provide some assistance. In all my years away from Berkeley I had never lost my affinity for the club and the membership, and was blessed to have the opportunity to return when Shawn offered me a position. I'm grateful to Shawn for bringing me back into the Berkeley fold, and would like to acknowledge his hard work and dedication to the club over many years of service.

And now, here we are three years later, heading into a new chapter for golf operations at Berkeley Hills. I look forward to continuing to serve our membership and being the "Keith" you've always known, but in an expanded role that will permit me to make some adjustments and enhancements to our operation that I've wanted to see for some time, based on feedback received from so many of you over the years. I'm excited to work with our golf associations, committees and the Board to make the sort of impactful changes that will benefit our golfers.

Freshening up the tournament program is an area of focus, and as new events and upgrades to current ones are introduced, I will be listening for your feedback on what you like and what you'd like to see enhanced. I'll also be implementing some changes to how we staff and operate the golf shop and outside services, with a focus on every staff member becoming more engaged with the membership.

My ultimate goal is to deliver to each member the best golf experience our team can provide, and to deliver it consistently. My door is always open, so please feel welcome to visit anytime to discuss anything and everything. And thank you again for the opportunity to serve as your Director of Golf.

It was a great month for the Berkeley Hills Senior Match Play team. We took 14 out of 18 possible points against Eagle Watch on our home course. That put us in first place in our division. There were some great performances and scores. The teams of Mark Carrier / John Forbes, Mike Black / Ken Webb and Paul Spofford / Paul White took all 3 of their points. The team of Paul Dillon / Dave Ferrari took 2 1/2 points, while the team of Rick O'Dom / Barry Lakas took 2 points. Well done, guys!

The team also had a great day at Indian Hills CC, taking 9 1/2 points out of a possible 18. None of our players were shut out, with all six teams contributing to the 9 1/2 point total. Special recognition for the team of Ed Odmark / Barry Lakas who went 3-0, and the teams of Mark Barnes / John Forbes and Paul White / Russ Codrington going 2-1. Great playing!
