THE POWDER HORN GOLF COURSE RATED ONE OF THE NATION'S TOP RESIDENTIAL COURSES FOR TWELVE CONSECUTIVE YEARS

Sheridan, Wyoming – November 11, 2016. Golfweek magazine, in its annual rating of “America’s Best Residential Golf Courses” announced that the Powder Horn is rated on its list of Top 100 Best Residential Golf Courses in the United States for 2017.

According to Golfweek, this list is the best compilation of top courses that embody the enduring sensibility and aesthetic of places that make you want to come back—or in the case of real estate, to buy and stay there. The results are derived from ballots submitted by Golfweek’s national team of 450 course raters, and represent a definitive list of finely designed golf within a mixed-use setting

“We’re honored to receive this recognition from Golfweek for the twelfth year in a row,” says General Manager Robert Kearney. “It’s a tribute to the hard work of our staff and the original vision of founder Homer Scott to create a spectacular master planned community at the base of the Big Horn Mountains.”

The scenic, 27-hole championship golf course was designed by Dick Bailey of Dick Bailey Design in Scottsdale, Arizona. It features a wide-open front nine known as the Mountain Nine, a tightly wooded back nine named the Stag Nine, and the Eagle Nine offering a mix of meadow and creekside landscapes.
