Golf

Note From The Pro

February weather was better than January! No doubt. We saw some great days with tons of golf being played. Yes, it's still a little wet and the fairways are a little thin, but the greens are rolling great and it's always a bonus to get some warm weather golf in February!

Speaking of the golf course.... Thought this would be a great time to highlight all that Rob Daniel, our superintendent, and his staff have been doing this winter.

1. Better Billy Bunkers. Rob was able to continue working on the bunkers at RiverTowne. This year, he busted out great improvements on holes 12, 15 (both fairway and greenside), 16 and 17. The improvements will help him on the maintenance side and more importantly, improve the playability of the golf course.

2. Drainage. Most of you are aware of the clay that RiverTowne was built upon. Clay does not drain well! Rob's done a fantastic job over the last few years on getting this course to drain better, but it's an endless job. This year, he was able to work on the drainage problem in front of the 1st green.... Everyone knows this has been a trouble area for the past year or so. I think his work will really improve the way the first hole looks and plays.

3. Tree Work. All winter long, Rob's staff has worked to clean up areas around the course to open site lines to our beautiful marsh lands and rivers as well as open up some site lines to fairways and greens. These improvements were all discussed and approved by Arnold Palmer's course architect Harrison Minchew.

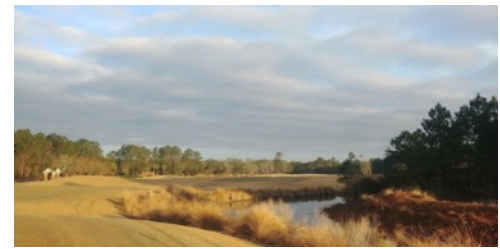

Make sure to pause and check out the views behind #2 green, #4, 5 and 11 tee! I've provided some pictures to the right.
