Better Putting on Speedy Greens

The greens are fantastic! We're set up for a great fall/winter of golf and I hope you're as excited as I am.

Fast greens are great for the ego- who doesn't like to talk about green speeds? Problem is for many golfers, their touch, or lack of is exposed on fast greens..... Yes, they roll well, but scores go up due to more and more 3 putts!

There is a way to improve, and I GUARANTEE it... Yup, it's that good. By now, you'll know this is not a quick fix, or a tip, but rather consistent and systematic training... Practice.

Improving touch, especially on fast greens takes experience. Lots of time learning touch! We can speed up the process by using what I call 'Awareness Training' on the putting green (and on the course!).

We have touch, all of us, but most are completely unaware of how good we are! Here's a way to prove it to yourself. Next time you play or practice watch someone else putt. Don't watch the mechanics of the stroke, simple what the size of the stroke and the contact with the ball... Once the putt is struck, make a guess as to whether the putt will end up short or long of the hole..... Chances are, you'll guess right! We know what it looks like, sounds like, and what it feels like... We just have to train it in ourselves.

Simple. Drop a few balls on the putting green and begin putting towards a hole. The goal is to improve awareness! After each putt, simply guess 'short' or 'long' before looking up and watching the putt roll out... After about 10 minutes, you'll be amazed at how good your awareness becomes!!!! That's right, at least 10 minutes. You'll be inconsistent at first, both in your distance control and your guessing- but within a few minutes you'll begin to feel your stroke, you'll improve your awareness of your touch!!!! This is making the most out of one's 'experience'. This works, but it takes consistent training over time.

You can use this on the course as well.... Once you've improved your awareness of 'short' and 'long' on the practice green, bring it to the course. By being 'aware' rather than judgemental, you'll learn from good putts as well as bad putts and most often will continue to improve your touch throughout a round!

Be curious. Be aware. Practice putting for distance... Notice and improve. It's a guarantee!
