

CARIBBEAN AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS

August 6 – 12, 2012 | Royal St. Kitts Golf Club

Competition still fierce heading into the championship round

St. Kitts (Aug. 10, 2012) – Some of the best golfers from all across the region have staked their claim to the top of the leaderboards, but much remains to be decided heading into the final round of the RBC 56th Caribbean Amateur Golf Championships.

Seven strokes or less separate first and second place in every category, which should make for an exciting championship Saturday at Royal St. Kitts Golf Club. That widest seven stroke lead is in the Hoerman Cup chase, where the Dominican Republic shot a steady +9 to remain on top with a total of +18, with the host OECS team lurking just behind at +25. The Dominicans were led by a round of even par from Ernesto Vitienes and a +1 from George Riley, the men's current individual leader.

For the second-straight day, the Dominicans also had a solid showing in the Ramón Báez competition, with Mid-Amateurs Hiram Silfa and Juan Campusano shooting -3 to remain on top at -11. However, Jamaica (-2) and Puerto Rico (-4) also played well, and are still very much in it at -8 and -11, respectively.

Also within striking distance are the Puerto Rican Ladies, who benefited from a strong round of 69 by María Torres to shrink Trinidad & Tobago's lead to just six strokes after 54 holes. Torres also all but assured her spot as the best individual female; she's at +1 for the tournament and Monifa Sealy is second with +8.

In the Seniors competition, Barbados slid from first to fourth place after a third-round 77, while the Bahamas' Paul Bowe and George Swann held on to the lead by shooting even par. They're at +5 for tournament but can't relax just yet, with Puerto Rico's Senior tandem three strokes behind after a +1 on Friday.

Finally, Super Seniors Fabien Lee Foon and Arjon Samlal of Trinidad & Tobago shook up the Higgs & Higgs division with an impressive -5, which bought them a five-stroke lead over Puerto Rico.

Dominican George Riley shot +1 on Friday and is at even par, two strokes ahead of the OECS' Paul Michael in the individual leaderboard.
